Well Organized Pets & Sets

Rajpur Resorts, on the old Mussoorie Road where a few of us stayed overnight! Really took us back into time maybe to the Rudyard Kipling days! High termite infested ceilings in a hundred year old vintage Dak Bungalow! Toilets the size of a modern day bedroom! Crickets chirping away in the still silence of the night! Dogs (were they wolves?) baying away at the moon early dawn! Visions of hunters of yore hunting down wild animals, especially the man-eaters! Going back even further we were told that these were the hallowed grounds where the Princes of Indraprastha, the Pandavas, were given their military training in the arts of weapons & warfare by the Great Guru Dronacharya, after whom the city of Dehra Dun is named!

These & similar visions were put paid when Moni, - our current AG for our zone, knocks vigorously on the door to wake us up & tell us to get dressed & ready pronto! Not to be late even by a minute that's the instruction!

All this getting up & ready early on a Sunday morning is definitely not my idea of a trip to Dehra Dun, & most certainly not of Atul Grover, our incoming Secretary who must've been tired after that singing bout last night at the PETS & SETS Talent Nite! Not to mention the round the clock classes that were held in the four classrooms for the purpose. Didn't find the time to check out the health of our incoming President Bobby Sandhu! And the enthusiasm was quite evident! As were the notes they took in their pads! I filched a few of the Questionnaires myself thought I'd fill them up.

Rotary sure is getting quite professional in its approach to training what with HR trainers & their ilk mobilized for the purpose. One could not help but be impressed with the clock work precision with which the sessions were conducted, & all credit goes to the Distt. Trainer PDG Prem Bhalla, for that.

Another first - our Distt. 3080 is getting truly in with the times! We now have all Rotary info available to each & every club on the Rotary website, & I'm not talking of Rotary International. All club activities & correspondence can be done via the RI website - & actually pertain to our District! So now all your communication with the Distt. can happen on-line, & you can actually save your stationery & postage to boot! This was brilliantly explained in a AV presentation by our talented & eloquent PP from Ranipur Rajiv Bhalla! He also gave a way a CD containing Rotary for Dummies to all club Presidents!

Thanks to DGE Shaju Peter & the incoming Distt. Secretary PP BL Ramsissaria for a well organized Pets & Sets!
